Dear Mayor Werdal,

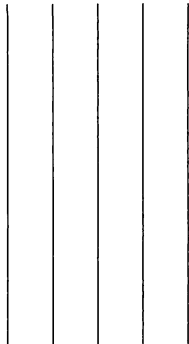

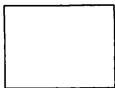

You may have heard of a book about my father's aerial photographs called Portraits of an Era . As part of the promotion of that book, the publisher printed some postcards of a half dozen photos from the book. One of them was of Aylesbury. Unfortunately, they are not of very good quality but they still capture your town in the mid-50s. Better prints of this photo can be obtained from the online source at the University of Saskatchewan archives which is where the negatives are held. Nevertheless, I thought someone there might be interested in these cards. I hope so.

All the best,

Hugh McPhail
